SENATOR RAIKES: Yes.

SENATOR BOURNE: Thank you, Senator Raikes. And I was...I didn't hear all of your opening, although I did look at that chart that you provided, and I appreciate that. Let me ask you what your amendment specifically does. The Appropriations Committee takes $4 million on an annual basis from the Education Innovation Fund to the General Fund. Is that accurate?

SENATOR RAIKES: Yes, that would be accurate, and that is...that is now happening in the current biennium in that...

SENATOR BOURNE: Right, and they just extend that.

SENATOR RAIKES: Yes. Yes.

SENATOR BOURNE: Okay. But your amendment would say that they would only take, let's see, $1 million would stay in the Education Innovation Fund to be allocated by the Governor, and then the other $3 million would go into the General Fund?

SENATOR RAIKES: Yes, that's right. So the two fours on...or $4 million amounts on line 17 would be $3 million each.

SENATOR BOURNE: Okay. Let me ask you, and the Education Innovation Fund was set up as, say, a repository for the lottery dollars that are allocated to...some are allocated to the Education Innovation Fund and some are allocated to the Environmental Trust? Is that where this money comes from?

SENATOR RAIKES: Right. Right, there are three, three. It's statutory now and you have the education portion, the environmental portion, and the Gamblers' Assistance Fund.

SENATOR BOURNE: Okay. And where is...and you can help me out because I know you have a Ph.D. and I don't. Where is the...in the blue book that the Appropriations Committee put out, where is the bill or the money that takes money...or the bill or the line that takes money from the Environmental Trust?

SENATOR RAIKES: Apparently, I need one more year of schooling
